Beatles albums rereleased as mono masterpieces

The lavish 14-LP boxed set presents the music as the band intended it to be heard

The celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Beatles' arrival in America continues Tuesday with the worldwide release of "The Beatles in Mono," a deluxe limited edition, 14-LP, 180-gram vinyl boxed set that also contains a 108-page hardbound book.

This lavish set, priced at $374.98 on Amazon.com, contains all of the Beatles' albums that were originally released in mono in the United Kingdom in the 1960s and features the albums "Please Please Me," "With the Beatles," "A Hard Day's Night," "Beatles for Sale," "Help!," "Rubber Soul," "Revolver," "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band," "Magical Mystery Tour" (a U.S. album that was originally issued in the U.K. as a two-disc 45 rpm set but is now part of the Beatles' canon), "The Beatles" (a two-LP set more commonly known as "The White Album") and "Mono Masters" (a three-LP set that features singles and stray tracks that were available in mono).

There are no versions of "Yellow Submarine," "Abbey Road" or "Let it Be," as they were not released with true mono mixes in the 1960s, only stereo.

Having just received my set, the first thing that grabbed my attention when I took the albums out to look at them was the amazing re-creations of the original

Victim of Friday shooting on Lillie Street dies

News-Sentinel staff reports

A Fort Wayne woman who was struck by bullets fired into her home Friday has died of her injuries.

Her death has been declared a homicide by the Allen County Coroner's Office.

Fort Wayne Police said Saturday that the woman, identified as Glynis A. Harris, 54, of Fort Wayne, died. She had been shot one or more times in the chest, according to the coroner's office.

Police found Harris at about 9:40 p.m. Friday, when they investigated a report of a shooting in the 4400 block of Lillie Street.

Investigators had not announced any arrests in the case as of press time today.

Her death is the 10th homicide in Allen County in 2014.

Police nationwide short on Hispanic officers

Smaller gap for black officers, communities.

By EILEEN SULLIVAN AND JACK GILLUM
of The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The killing of an unarmed black 18-year-old by an officer in a nearly all-white police department in suburban St. Louis refocused the country on the racial balance between police forces and the communities they protect.

But an analysis by The Associated Press found that the racial gap between black police officers and the communities where they work has narrowed over the last generation, particularly in departments that once were the least diverse.

A much larger disparity, however, is now seen in the low number of Hispanic officers in police departments. In Waco, Texas, for example, the community is more than 30 percent Hispanic, but the police department of 231

Local demographics

This is the racial demographic breakdown of the Fort Wayne Police Department:

Rank	Black	Caucasian	Hispanic	Asian/Pacific Islander	Native American
Patrol officer	45	276	19	8	1
Sergeant	4	56	1	0	1
Lieutenant	0	11	0	0	0
Captain	1	8	0	0	0
Deputy chief	1	5	0	0	0
Assistant chief	0	1	0	0	0
Chief of police	1	0	0	0	0
Director of public safety	0	1	0	0	0

full-time sworn officers has only 27 Hispanics.

Across the United States,

there are police departments that still look like Ferguson, Mo., a largely white police force protecting a mostly black community.

After rioting followed the shooting of Michael Brown there, Attorney General Eric Holder noted the lack of black police on the city's payroll. "Police forces should reflect the diversity of the communities they serve," Holder said.

Holder on Thursday announced a Justice Department investigation into the practices of the city's police department. Holder said he and his department had heard numerous concerns
